Tranquility Bay Unveils New, Leading Edge System For Seamless Wireless Internet Access

MARATHON, Florida Keys (March 5, 2007) – Tranquility Bay Beach House Resort recently installed a leading edge wireless Internet system that will provide guests with complete, seamless wireless access anywhere on the resort’s property. Tranquility Bay teamed with Comcast Corporation’s new service, HospitalityONE, and BelAir Networks to become the first resort in Florida to implement this technology.

“This new WiFi technology allows our guests to roam the entire resort and access the wireless system much more seamlessly. Guests will be tied in to the Internet no matter where they are on property, whether poolside, beachfront or on the front porch of their beach house,” said Tyler Walters, Tranquility Bay general manager. “This new wireless technology is just another way to ensure that Tranquility Bay provides the finest guest experience possible.”

The BelAir Networks wireless products used in the deployment of HospitalityONE service at Tranquility Bay were developed to simplify Wireless Local Area Networks deployments by creating a wireless mesh that does not require cables, switches or routers to interconnect access points. The system installed at Tranquility Bay uses only three access points to provide for seamless wireless access.

“We are excited about the deployment of HospitalityONE service with the BelAir Networks wireless system,” said Comcast’s General Manager for the Florida Keys, Bill Underwood. “With more of an emphasis on the use of wireless communication devices, we’ve succeeded in offering a unique service that the hospitality industry can use to as a value added element to their existing services.”

Tranquility Bay also provides wired high-speed Internet access in each luxury beach home and makes laptops available on loan to guests free of charge.
